

MEDIA RELEASE

Prepared by: Jeanette Horsley – Manager, Economic Development & Tourism

BE SEDUCED IN THE PYRENEES WINE REGION IN 2007

The 2007 Seduction by Tastebuds series was launched at four well known restaurants across Melbourne in October.

The series which brings highly acclaimed Melbourne Chefs into the stunning Pyrenees Wine region to work with the artisan winemakers of the region is now in its third year and has developed a regular following.

Keen to seduce food & wine lovers in 2007 are:

- February – Simon Humble of Tutto Bene in South Bank cooking at Kara Kara Vineyard, Wines by Kara Kara Vineyard
- April – Adrian Richardson of La Luna in Nth Carton and recognizable Television personality. Cooking at Redbank Winery, Wines by Redbank Winery
- June – Gabriel Martin of Maisonette in Essendon – awarded their first Chefs Hat in the 2006 Age Good Food Guide. Cooking at Dalwhinnie Vineyard. Wines by Dalwhinnie Vineyard.
- July – Luke Watson, Executive Chef at Warrenmang Vineyard & Resort will affirm why Warrenmang has continually won awards for its wonderful dining experiences of the last 18 years. Wines by Warrenmang.
- September – Gary Mehigan known firstly for Fenix and now in addition, the recently acquired Boathouse in Marybrinong, will be cooking up a storm at Mount Avoca Vineyard. Wines by Mount Avoca Vineyard.

The lunches are hosted on Saturdays so that guests can enjoy the range of accommodation in the region and head home on Sunday at a relaxed pace – perhaps picking up a few bottles of wine from one of the many cellar doors just to remember the weekend by!

Bus transportation is available for a minimal charge from Ballarat as well as transfers to and from local accommodation to the luncheon venue.

Bookings are essential and a special offer of a bottle of premium Pyrenees Wine will reward guests booking three or more lunches.

To book phone Alana on 1800 206 622 or email Alana@pyrenees.vic.gov.au.

Further details please contact:

Jeanette Horsley
Economic Development & Tourism Manager
Pyrenees Shire Council
Mobile: 0409 192 696